WRITING ACADEMIC PAPERS FOR SUCCESS! - PART 2

Here is some advice for writing academic papers (check out the December newsletter for part 1):

1. Start early: Give yourself plenty of time to research, write, and revise your journal articles.
2. Stay organized: Use a system to keep track of your sources, notes, and ideas.
3. Follow the guidelines: Make sure you understand the specific requirements and guidelines for the journal you are submitting to.
4. Write clearly and concisely: Use simple, straightforward language and avoid jargon.
5. Get feedback: Share your work with colleagues, supervisors, or peers and get feedback on your writing and ideas.
6. Revise, revise, revise: Be prepared to revise your work multiple times before submitting it for publication.
7. Be persistent: Publishing in academic journals can be a competitive process, so don't be discouraged if your work is not accepted right away. Keep trying and keep improving your writing.
